IMPORTANT FROM WASHINGTON.

Passage of the Minnesota Bill in the Senate.

Expected Action on the Kansas Bill—The Sale of Harney's Theatre—General Houston and the late Naval Retiring Board, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 7.

It is expected that the Opposition will, unanimously, carry a motion to adhere in the House Kansas bill. Mr. STEPHENS has abandoned the idea of speaking now, but will wait until the bill comes back again from the Senate, on a proposition for a Committee of Conference.

An article in the Sisters alleges that the lease of Burton's Theatre is a conspiracy to swindle the Government in damages for the extension of Elm-street. The facts are that the contract was entered into with a full knowledge of the purpose to extend Elm-street, and no allowance was made, therefore, in the price. This fact was stated on the representation of the New-York delegation.

It is expected that Gen. HOUSTON will shortly make a savage onslaught on the late Naval Retiring Board—seven of whom have gone abroad, it is said, in anticipation of his purpose. Another—Com. SHUBRICK—is endeavoring to get sent off to command the Squadron in the Mediterranean. Gen. HOUSTON means to have the officers composing the Board tried by a similar tribunal. O.

[FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.]

The Senate to-day confirmed a large number of appointments of Post-Officers, Collectors, &c., nearly clearing its tables of that sort of business.

The upshot of the denial of the difficulty between HARNEY and SMITH is, that HARNEY could not get a separate command, as he wanted.

The fact is stated here that there are but two papers in Louisiana not Anti-Locompton. A.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 7.

Mr. COLLINS, United States Commercial Consul for the Amoor River, has completed his exploration and submitted the result to the State Department, together with two maps, one of the Amoor River, and the other showing the relative position of Northern Asia, and our Pacific Coast. A company has been formed, sanctioned by the Emperor of Russia, and placed in the special care of the Governor-General of Eastern Siberia, to promote and develop commercial and industrial pursuits in the basin of the Amoor. Mr. COLLINS shows the prospective importance of that trade to our own country.

Much solicitude is expressed concerning the Deficiency Appropriation bill, which is now more clearly than ever threatened with defeat in its present form. The interest is heightened by the fact that the supplies to the Utah Expedition depend on its passage, and money is wanted for the immediate necessities of the service.

The War Department transmitted to the house to-day the full particulars concerning the contracts for the supplies of the Utah Expedition.

They do not sustain the published statements of exorbitant prices. The rates of transportation to Utah depend upon the season in which the service is performed.

The Senate returned the Kansas bill to the House to-day. By general agreement the latter will take it up to-morrow at 1 o'clock.

BENJ. MURPHY to-day was unanimously confirmed by the Senate as paymaster at Harper's Ferry.

Enough is known to warrant the assertion that Governor PENALTA and Major McCULLOCH, Peace Commissioners to Utah, will be instructed to assure the Mormons that it is not the desire of the President and the United States authorities to make war upon them, but to secure the enforcement of the laws, to which end they will be counselled to participate. The Commissioners will also inform them that some troops will be retained in the Territory to protect the emigrants to the Pacific against the attacks of hostile Indians. The Commissioners will go with the next reinforcements to Utah.

XXXVth CONGRESS.....First Session.

SENATE.... WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 7.

A lengthened discussion took place upon the report of the Committee on Printing against the printing of eulogies of recently deceased Senators.

Messrs. BROWN, FESSENDEN, HALE and others spoke against unnecessary printing.

Mr. CAMERON said in behalf of the Committee that all picture books would be rejected in future, and that from thirty to forty thousand dollars had already been saved by the Committee's economy.

Messrs. HOUSTON and MASON spoke in favor of printing these eulogies.

Mr. SEWARD explained that his vote in favor of the printing, was not influenced by personal interest. He also spoke of exaggerated funeral honors as unnecessary.

Finally Mr. HOUSTON's motion to print was disagreed to.

The Minnesota bill was then taken up. It is very brief, consisting of a preamble and two sections, admitting Minnesota as a State and allowing her two Representatives.

The amendments were concurred in, and the bill read a third time.

Mr. WILSON called for the yeas and nays on the passage of the bill.

Previous to the calling of the roll, Messrs. BIGLER, BROWN, BUCHANAN of Tennessee, CRITTENDEN, SEWARD and WILSON made brief remarks on the clause in the Constitution permitting slaves to vote.

The final vote, that the bill pass, was Yeas 40; Nays 5.

YEAS—Messrs. Clay, Kennedy and Tuck—40.

NAYS—Messrs. Bayard, Benjamin, Davis, Fitzpatrick and Iverson—5.

The Senate then went into Executive Session, and on the opening of the doors again adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 7.

Mr. OTTEN, of New-Mexico, introduced a bill for the construction of a ship and wagon road in New-Mexico.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Deficiency Appropriation bill.

Mr. LOVEJOY, of Illinois, said the Committee on Ways and Means were very pleased to get something from the Senate. They had kept the Senate bill in committee, and had reported to the House the Senate amendments, and had recommended to concur in the Senate amendments, but if they had known the Senate would have kept the bill in its crude condition, and would have added to it the Utah appropriation, and would have sent it back to them, they would have kept it back, and have the Government without the means of carrying out the Utah expedition. He was astonished. He thought the Senate had taken a leaf from the book of the Administration, and would make the House responsible for the Utah appropriation. He was in hopes whatever was in the appropriation would make the Utah Expedition, and would have to take the responsibility of supplies to Utah upon itself. The million and a quarter deficiency to be supplied by this bill came as a legacy from the previous Administration. If the Utah expedition was inadvisable, he was sorry, he said, why did not Congress pass a resolution declaring that position? Why did not Congress say what it thought necessary? It was now too late to argue as to the wisdom of the Utah expedition. If the President had exceeded his authority in ordering the troops to Utah, Mr. LOVEJOY would not stand by him.

During the debate on an amendment, Messrs. WELLS, of Maine, and GRAHAM, of New-York, opposed furnishing supplies for the Utah expedition, on the ground that the President is prosecuting the war without the authority of Congress.

Mr. LOVEJOY, of Illinois, said he was willing to understand the war system. Will the contract at half what it cost, will it be economy? Tell the Government, if they are to make war, they must furnish the means. Let us be honest, and not cheat the servant. [Laughter.]

Mr. HUGHES, of Indiana, in reply to an incidental remark by Mr. COBB, of Alabama, that the debate on Kansas was opened by the "Maine giant from Ohio," (WADE) said he (Hughes) only spoke at that time about fifteen minutes to prevent lest his colleague would listen to a speech he could convert him. [Laughter.]

Mr. COLFAX replied that his colleague would find his laborers vain.

Mr. HUGHES said he was convinced now, for you detained your friends not vote for the admission of Kansas, and voted against the Minnesota, and yet did not vote the other day. [Laughter.]

Mr. COLFAX replied he had not voted to unity, but had voted for the Minnesota. He had voted to admit Kansas as a State, without considering any conditions, leaving the people to vote on Lecompton under such circumstances as the Washington Union declared would induce them to reject it. He had voted for the Crittenden amendment, which the same paper said was as full of Rock Republicanism as an egg is full of meat.

Question of Mr. GARLAND, of Virginia, the Committee rose and reported the bill, with a recommendation that it be recommitted to the Committee of Ways and Means, with instructions to report in separate bills the appropriations for service of the present fiscal year, and in another bill all appropriations designed for the next fiscal year, and also, with instructions to inquire what further legislation is necessary to restore to Congress an sufficient control over the expenses of the Government.

Mr. GARLAND, of Virginia, raised a question that such instructions could not be given, as it would be impossible to comply with them.

The Speaker replied that the report was novel in its character, but at the same time it was competent for the Committee to make the recommendation.

Mr. CARTTER, of Ohio, said if the recommendation should prevail, it would amount to the practical defeat of the bill.

The previous question ordered, on agreeing to the instructions of the Committee on Ways and Means, pending which the House adjourned.

Sad Calamity in Jefferson County—Burning of a whole Family—Heroic Conduct of a Jefferson Wife.

Correspondence of the New-York Times:

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Monday, April 5, 1858.

The inhabitants of this place have had two rather exciting topics on their tongues for the past few hours, the first relating to a shocking affair in the adjoining town of Le Ray; the second to another affair not so shocking in our own neighborhood.

The first is, as I learn by actual personal investigation, somewhat thus: A farmer named DARIUS COMSTOCK has been living with his four little daughters, MARY, MARIA, COLONA and CORA, alone in his house, which is located fourteen or fifteen miles from here, on what is known as the Philadelphia Road. His wife has been absent some two months, in Auburn, under medical treatment. Last (Sunday) night, about 9 o'clock, it was discovered that the residence of Mr. COMSTOCK was in flames, and before assistance could be rendered it was burned to the ground, together with its five inmates! It would seem from the position of affairs as I found them to-day, on the ground, that Mr. C. and his four daughters (the oldest of whom was only ten years) were all asleep together in one bedroom, in a corner of the house. The first indication they had of the fire was, probably, not until the building was full of flames, for it is apparent the fire "took" from a keg of ashes in the woodhouse, which is some distance from the bedroom in question, and, in burning its way to the bedroom, it must have enveloped everything in flames. Rushing in the darkness forth from the bedroom, the frantic children flew in different directions, blinded by the smoke and flames, while the unnatural father, who loved his money more than his offspring, ran upstairs to get his box of valuables, while he might have easily opened the bedroom window at the outset, and placed himself and children beyond danger—for the bedroom was on the ground floor. But, alas for human frailty!—his miserly habits ruled him, and his blackened bones and ashes were found, after the fire, lying across his box in the cellar, where he had fallen.

As if this affair were not sufficiently shocking in itself, we are compelled to turn to the poor wife, who, away in Auburn, is contemplating the happiness of her little ones, and the prospect of a speedy reunion with them. Before I left that vicinity, to return to Watertown, to-night, a letter was placed in my hands, which had just been received from the poor woman, addressed to her husband, and dated at Auburn, last Friday. I extract for you these portions:

"MY DEAR ONE AT HOME: You will also be surprised, and I trust, like me, you will be joyfully surprised, when I tell you that I am coming home next week. * * * I should have started this morning, if I had had an answer to the letter that I sent on Tuesday last. I feel as if I cannot possibly wait till it comes. * * * I am not strong enough to endure much, though I am gaining. I am very much excited with the prospect of going home; hope I shall get calm before I start. I think I see you all looking very happy, my dear children, when pa reads this to you. Be good children, and I hope ere another Friday noon to be with you.

Your affectionate mother, A. M. C."

Alas! alas! for this poor woman, when she learns the fate of her "dear children," and realizes that after all she is alone in the world! May God pity and strengthen her!

The second topic of which I spoke is more agreeable to dwell upon. Early on Sunday morning, three prisoners, named WILSON, EBOY, MILLER and WARD, by feigning the sickness of one of their number, got the jailer at this place, Mr. BAKER, in their power, gagged and bound him, and locked him in a cell. This done, they robbed him of his money and the keys of the prison, and were calmly taking their leave when they were "brought all up standing" by beholding the jailer's little wife pointing at them through a rifling, a loaded revolver, and calmly informing them that she would put a bullet through the first man who attempted to come forward. A conversation something like this, followed:

PRISONER—The devil you will! You don't know how to shoot it.

MRS. BAKER—Try it and see, if you like! I have been practicing with this pistol for the past few days, and I promise you I will kill the first man who comes forward.

PRISONER—Well, if that's your game, we'll be quits with you. Now, take your choice, young woman—either let us pass out in peace, or submit to have your husband's brains knocked out against the walls of the hall. Which do you like best? Perhaps that won't be gay, nor nothing, just to see him laying out there cold and stiff, with his brains laying around. Ha! ha!—d—d pretty picture, ain't it? D—d pretty wife you are, anyhow, to get your husband killed! Come, now, what d'ye say? Let us out and I'll be all right, won't ye? (And the speaker moved forward a step.)

MRS. BAKER—The first man who steps out Dies! Dies!

And there that brave woman held those men at bay for [illegible] like half an hour, until help came, and they were [illegible] into the cells.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

A. L. Fowler, Trustee, vs. John W. Urquhart & Bros.—The defendants move to set aside an order for their examination in judgment debtors. The Sheriff made no demand upon them. The execution was returned unsatisfied at the request of the plaintiffs. Such a ground for the order was asked.

For the motion, Anderson and Wyatt opposed. Cooper and Rice.

Gleason, J.—It is asserted, and for the purpose of this motion admitted, that the plaintiffs directed the Sheriff to return the execution, issued in this action, before the expiration of the sixty days, and before any effort was made to levy upon property subject to execution.

Now, supplementary proceedings under the first part of sec. 292 of the Code, were evidently designed as a remedy, not commensurate with substantious with an execution, but, as the adjective designating these proceedings imports, to supply its place, where it has failed to be executed. And, in all cases, the execution must precede the resort to the supplementary remedy. If none be found within a reasonable time, the attempt to find and attach property, which it can reach. Otherwise, the intention of the law requiring the issuing of the execution would be an idle ceremony; and if it would save much trouble, it would in every respect be more convenient and proper to allow the commencement of these so-called supplementary proceedings, immediately on the rendition of the judgment, and without the intervention of an execution. We all know that the creditor's bill, for which these proceedings have substituted a cumbersome substitute, could not have been filed until what was called the legal remedy should be exhausted.

There is nothing under the present system succeeding this requirement. The remedy by executions must still be exhausted; it must be really exhausted—it must not be a mere attempt to do so; but, the proper officer, must, be allowed to take the usual course to effectuate the object which the process was designed to serve.

This, certainly, is not done, when the plaintiffs in an action take pains and prevent the sheriff from, even searching for property, by prematurely directing him to return the execution, for the express purpose of enabling them to commence these proceedings.

The motion must be set aside with 20 costs.

Dubois vs. Jones et al.

Dunne vs. Hitchcock et al.—Motion for stay of proceedings denied, upon the payment of the amount to be fixed by the undertaking, pursuant to section 322.

John A. Stewart, Receiver, vs. Truesdell & Case.—Motion granted.

James B. Hulton vs. James Foster et als.—Motion denied.

Joseph Lawrence vs. Hiram C. Bennett et als.—Motion to place on Special Calendar granted.

SUPERIOR COURT—Trial Term.

Walter Hicks vs. Edward Payson.—This action, which has before been noticed in the TIMES, was brought on an account, the defendant being arrested for breach of trust. On the preliminary examination the defendant was discharged from arrest, and then moved for a dismissal of the complaint, which was granted, with costs, and thereupon judgment was entered for defendant.

IMPORTANT LAWSUIT.—We learn that one of our best business firms has recently come out of a protracted litigation in the State of New-York, under circumstances somewhat more propitious than ordinarily mark the exodus of a lawsuit.

In January 1856, CHAMBERLIN & CRAWFORD entered into a compact with the Watertown and Rome Railroad Company, which contemplated the transportation of goods from New-York via Rome and Cape Vincent to Chicago and other intermediate points on Lake Michigan and Erie; the Railroad Company transporting the goods to and from Cape Vincent, on the eastern section of the route. The bonanza was for four years. At the end of the first year it was repudiated by the Railroad Company, for the reason that it was not profitable to them in its operation.

CHAMBERLIN & CRAWFORD instituted suit for damages in the Supreme Court of the State of New-York, for the county of St. Lawrence. The case was ultimately taken from Court, and submitted to the Hon. E. N. ROSEKRANS, of the Fourth Judicial District, as a Referee.

After a patient and laborious investigation at Ogdensburgh and Watertown, in January and February last, the learned Judge took the matter under advisement. His opinion is now promulgated in a legal and logical argument, that would reflect honor upon the best intellect of Westminster Hall. We regret that Referee Rosekrans compels us to exclude it from our columns. We can only say the award gives to our friends, Messrs. CHAMBERLIN & CRAWFORD, the full sum of $41,679 10.

Judge BROWN, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Judge R. P. SPALDING, of Cleveland, we are informed, argued the case on the part of the plaintiffs. Messrs. CLARK, of Watertown, and HUNTINGTON, of the City of New-York, for defendants.—Cleveland Herald.

REMOVAL OF THE TIMES OFFICE.

On or about the 1st of May the TIMES Establishment will be removed to the new TIMES BUILDING upon Park Row, Spruce-street and Nassau-street. We are now engaged in putting up new steam boilers and engines, and Hoe's Ten Cylinder Press; in the vaults of the new building, and as soon as these are ready for use the removal will take place. When once established in our new quarters, we hope to introduce various additions and improvements in the management of THE TIMES, from which we have been precluded hitherto by lack of space and other needed facilities.

The business of THE TIMES is steadily and rapidly increasing. Our circulation is constantly increasing, and our daily receipts for Advertising are now larger than they are at present. Our new building has been constructed expressly for the accommodation of our business, and will permit of its extension to an unlimited extent. It is perfectly fireproof, being built of stone, brick and iron from top to bottom, and is beyond question the finest Newspaper Establishment in the world. We shall do everything in our power to render THE TIMES itself fully worthy of its new habitation.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

At Halifax last night, there were no signs of the Arctic, now in her thirteenth day out from Liverpool and due at Halifax.

In the United States Senate yesterday, some discussion was had upon extravagance in the printing expenditures of the body. It arose upon the motion of Mr. HOUSTON to print eulogies on Senator [illegible] recently deceased. After remarks by Mr. CRITTENDEN, Mr. FESSENDEN, Mr. MASON and Mr. SEWARD, the motion was lost. The Senate then took up the Minnesota bill. It contains a preamble and two sections, and allows two representatives. Several Senators spoke upon the clause in the Minnesota Constitution, permitting aliens to vote. On the final vote the yeas were 42, the nays 8. So the Minnesota Admission bill has passed the Senate. After an Executive session the Senate adjourned. In the House Mr. LETCHER, from the Committee of Ways and Means, complained that the Deficiency bill was forced upon him from the Democratic side, which he said was an Administration measure, he did not know why. Supplies for the Utah Expedition must be obtained. Mr. WASHBURN, of Maine, and Chandler, of New-York, opposed granting supplies. Mr. LOVEJOY, of Illinois, would undertake the war cheaper, at half what the bill calls for. A colloquy took place between Mr. HUGHES and Mr. COLFAX, both of Indiana, upon the vote of the latter in favor of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution. Mr. GARNETT, of Virginia, moved to recommit the Deficiency bill to the Committee of Ways and Means, with a variety of instructions, which were pronounced by Mr. CAMPBELL, of Ohio, malicious, if adopted, to the defeat of the bill. The previous question, on Mr. GARNETT'S motion, was ordered, pending which the House adjourned.

A great crowd of business was done by the Legislature yesterday, a full summary of which will be found under our telegraphic head. A final vote was taken on the Registry law in the Assembly.

The Rhode Island State election took place yesterday, and resulted in the complete triumph of the Democratic party—they having elected their whole State ticket and large majorities in both branches of the General Assembly.

Advices from Venezuela, received at Baltimore, are unfavorable. President MONAGAS, anticipating a revolution, had resigned his Government, had resigned, and a Provisional Government, under General GARCIA, had been formed. At latest dates the Ex-President was under the protection of the Diplomatic body.

The Commissioners of Emigration met in Worth-street on Wednesday, the President, GULIAN C. VERPLANCK, Esq., in the Chair, when the Report of the Special Committee was brought up to whom was referred the case of the Hamburg ship Hermann, which arrived at this port about six weeks ago. There were 36 deaths on board, the voyage lasting 66 days. The affidavit of ADOLPH FUNCKE, a cabin passenger, sets forth that the vessel was badly provisioned and short of water. It says "the captain was probably too much engaged in conversation with a girl whom he had taken from the steerage into his cabin, and who remained with him during the whole of the voyage. He was much dissatisfied with her during the whole of a very stormy night, and did not come on deck, much to the dissatisfaction of his officers." The matter was referred to a Special Committee, consisting of the President, Vice-President, and the President of the German Society as Chairman. Nine hundred and thirty-five emigrants arrived during the week.

The "Regulars" and "Foresters" met as usual last evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Tammany Society. Postmaster FOWLER presided, in the absence of Grand Sachem DELAFIELD. After the usual routine business, two new members were initiated, and then the Order adjourned quietly and in order, contrary to general expectation.

The Academy of Medicine held its monthly meeting last night. They refused to pass resolutions introduced by Dr. GAILLARD, recommending a memorial to Congress to the effect that the Inspector of Drugs be appointed, only on the recommendation of the College of Pharmacy, the Academy of Medicine, and other medical institutions in this City; appointed a list of 24 delegates, beginning with Dr. VALENTINE MOTT, to the next meeting of the National Medical Association, at Washington; wrangled a little about paying for 750 copies of Dr. SIMS' oration, and listened to a paper on one of his specialities by Dr. A. K. GARDNER.

Judge DAVIES has suggested a great improvement in the Supreme Court Calendar. That of the Special Term is now ready, is long and narrow, so as to be conveniently in size and be carried with law papers. It has stiff covers, and presents a very neat appearance. The cases are arranged on page, with the number of each for notes. At the end of the volume is an index of all the cases, and a table for "set-down causes." It is much the most convenient form ever used, and must become generally adopted. The cost, we learn, is about one-quarter of that paid for the old style.

Last evening a meeting was held in the lecture-room of the Spingler Institute, which was attended by about 50 clergymen of various denominations, and laymen, the object being the perpetuation of the effects of the present religious revival, and the adoption of measures, by tent-preaching and similar agencies, to reach the classes not ordinarily attending the churches. Great cordiality of feeling prevailed, and it was determined to call another and a larger meeting in a few days, when definite action will be taken.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education held last night, the sum of $24,377 was appropriated for the building of a new school-house in the Twenty-second Ward. Mr. RANDALL was unanimously reelected City Superintendent of Schools, and Mr. RIDDLE was reelected Assistant-Superintendent by 26 votes. And, after a prolonged discussion on the report recommending a modification of the present Normal School Department the Board adjourned at 11 o'clock P. M.

A preliminary examination in the case of CHAS. TURNER, charged with abstracting certain documents from the Street Commissioner's Office, was had yesterday before the Mayor. Nothing of particular interest was elicited. A further hearing will be had to-day.

EDWARD H. SMITHSON, who was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of young SAMUEL, was admitted to bail yesterday in the sum of $2,000. Mr. PRESSER, of the firm of PRESSER & BROOKS, became his surety.

The General Markets, yesterday, were moderately active and firm for Cotton, Flour and Wheat. Buyers had to pay higher prices for Corn, owing to scarcity of it. Provisions were in good demand, and hog products were advancing. The grocery trade lacked animation. Freights were quite heavy, with 589 vessels of all classes in port.

The Cattle Markets have been poorly supplied during the week past, the entire City receipts amounting to only 2,485, against a weekly average of 3,143 last week. This small supply happened rather inopportunely, as, the fast over, there is an unusual demand for Beef just now. The holders having the control of the market, put up prices from 1c.@1½c., which was so much above the views of buyers that many of them bought very short, and some not at all. The market declined during the day, and the 1,844 cattle offered at Forty-fourth-street were finally sold out at night, the average advance of yesterday being about 1c. ⅌ lb. over the sales of the preceding Wednesday.

The War Prospect in Europe.

The Emperor NAPOLEON has just replaced the Count DE PERSIGNY as his Ambassador at London, by the Marshal Duke DE MALAKOFF. This diplomatic change has a double significance of no slight importance in the actual position of European affairs. It illustrates at once the reality of the Emperor's wish to conciliate England, and the urgency of his own domestic difficulties. M. DE PERSIGNY had alienated from himself the good-will of one of the most adulatory and "imperialist" bodies in Great Britain, the city of London, by his ungracious reply to their address of congratulation on the Emperor's escape from the bombs of ORSINI. No class of Englishmen have shown so much good-will to the new Napoleonic dynasty as the descendants of these very "shop-keepers," upon whom the first NAPOLEON used to vent his Corsican spite and scorn. The Bordeaux proclamation that the "Empire was Peace" captivated them thoroughly. M. DE PERSIGNY presumed too far upon this captivation, and forgetting that there was a soul of freedom in the London corporation, endeavored to enlist them in the Imperial crusade against the refugees, by menacing intimations of possible wars to follow upon the stubbornness of English Parliaments and the wanton audacity of an English Press. He made a serious and offensive blunder; and his retirement from office will be regarded in London as a practical admission of, and apology for, that blunder, on the part of his master.

The appointment of Marshal PELISSIER in his stead, covers this admission and apology in a very ingenious and Imperial manner. Marshal PELISSIER made many friends among his English allies in the East; he is believed to be personally friendly to England; and it has not been forgotten that on his reception at Marseilles he repaired the omission of Great Britain from the "toasts" of the civic banquet, by paying himself a frank, soldierlike compliment to the army of Queen VICTORIA. At the same time the Duke DE MALAKOFF will bear about in his own title a perpetual quiet remembrance of the superior part which was played by France in the Crimea; and without derogating in the least from the dignity and decorum of his diplomatic office will be able to keep himself thoroughly informed of the actual state of the military preparations of Great Britain.

But if it is essential to the Emperor's foreign policy that the people of England should be soothed again into amiability and confidence, it is not less essential to his domestic régime that he should be surrounded at home by men upon whom he can himself rely. And upon no two men in France can NAPOLEON III. so absolutely depend as upon M. DE PERSIGNY and the Marshal MAGNAN. DE MORNY, as he well knows, is attached to him simply by the shallowest self-interest. He was faithful at the time of the coup d'état, because then he was a man of desperate fortunes who had all to win and nothing to lose. Under the Empire he has acquired enormous wealth, he has connected himself by marriage with powerful families out of France, and as he once risked nothing to gain everything, the Emperor can hardly expect him now to risk everything to gain nothing. PERSIGNY and MAGNAN, on the contrary, will work for the Emperor as long as a ray of hope for him or his remains; and NAPOLEON III. now needs all the little loyalty he can command to make head against the gathering difficulties of his position. The rebound of his colossal experiments in finance is fast coming upon his Government; for the conditions under which alone those experiments could have proved successful, are rapidly disappearing from the game. NAPOLEON addressed himself at the beginning of his reign to the commercial interests of France. He put himself at the head of the enterprising and speculative ideas of the age. Relying on the mass of accumulated capital in France, he determined to stimulate that capital into unprecedented activity. Nothing can be more absurd than to charge him with a servile plagiarism of the system of his uncle. His theories, whatever their result may be, were his own, and his execution of his plans was as energetic as his conception of them was bold.

Moreover, he seemed, till within a very few months, to be going on most successfully. Nothing in the way of speculative development of real resources has ever been seen in the world to compare with the gigantic commercial financiering of France since 1851. The crisis of 1857, however, is now doing its work, indirectly indeed, but none the less effectually, upon the Imperial fabric. The commercial confidence of France, shaken by that crisis abroad, has now received a blow still more severe from the events which have followed the attempt of the 14th January. The breaking of the English alliance is the breaking of the ties which bind together the enormous machinery of commerce and speculation in France; and the stoppage of that machinery is the ruin of the Imperial Government. For NAPOLEON III. has discounted the future in his Treasury. HIPPOLYTE PASSY, in his admirable report on the Budget of 1849, established the principle that the France of 1849 could not safely carry a Government "floating debt" of more than $70,000,000. From 1853 to the present time NAPOLEON'S Government has been carrying a "floating debt" of between $110,000,000 and $130,000,000 per annum. Possibly, the France of the last few years may have been able to bear the pressure. But the crash of the commercial France of to-day would certainly throw the Empire back to the capacity of 1849. And then?

Upon this contingency hangs the whole of the anxiety which now pervades Europe in regard to the relations of England with France. If NAPOLEON should find himself forced to push taxation beyond the limit of safety, he must arm himself with a pretext which shall rally the people, partly by their sympathies and partly by its own stringency, to his side. And it may well be doubted whether any such pretext would be so popular with those classes upon whom the Emperor, in the alienation of the world of commerce and capital, must rely, as a war with England. The army and the provincial peasantry are the least enlightened, but also the most stubbornly French of the French. With them the word "Anglais" is now, as it was in the days of RABELAIS, a synonym for robber and villain. Nor is this unnatural. Popular education has only of late years begun to be diffused throughout France. The prejudices of centuries remain almost untouched in the popular heart, and those prejudices have always been more rancorous in France than in England. For nearly a thousand years have elapsed since the Normans overrun England, and their conquest was less a conquest than a fusion. But a generation of Frenchmen, of whom myriads are still living, saw the English flag floating over the walls of Paris, and four centuries have not effaced the traces of the wide ruin wrought throughout fair France by the invading Plantagenets. If NAPOLEON then is thrown back from the post of his ambition as the Arbitrator, Moderator and Umpire of Christendom—if that "leadership of Europe" which the London Times conceded to him but a year ago, is now to be questioned—if the dazzling system of his Imperialism is dashed and dimmed—if he is driven to the ultra-Gallicism of glory—he can touch no spring so true as an appeal to the soldier and the agriculturist against the perfidy of Albion. The impaired prestige of the English navy during the Crimean war will reconcile many even of the lesser maritime districts to such a step, and whenever it shall become the only desperate resort of his situation it is not easy to see why he should hesitate to grasp it. That the emergency may now be forced upon him at any moment, no impartial observer of his financial position can, we think, permit himself to doubt.

Cuba and the South.

The Washington States makes some very just and timely strictures upon the short-sighted policy of Southern politicians. They are always on hand to fight windmills, but are never in harness when any contest of actual importance is impending. They neglect and sacrifice the valuable material interests of the Southern States, to the miserable controversies upon abstractions, which absorb public attention and divert the public mind from matters of greater consequence. They are now contending, with vehement and intemperate zeal, for the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution, conceding that it has not the slightest practical importance for them, while they are utterly neglecting the issues connected with Cuba and Central America. The States cites these facts as showing conclusively that the South has no sound and healthy policy,—that she never secures the sympathy of the whole country by measures of national magnitude, but permits her public men to damage her reputation and check her growth by the narrow, sectional and repellant controversies which absorb their whole attention.

There is great force in these criticisms of a Southern journal upon the policy of the Southern States. And there can be no doubt that the more rapid growth of the North, in wealth and in power, is due to the greater attention which has been paid by its people to their own affairs. The New-England States have never been diverted, by national politics, from building up their manufactures. New-York and Pennsylvania have steadily aimed at securing the commerce of the great West. The Western States have been actively engaged in building Railroads, in bringing their vast tracts of land into cultivation, in building school-houses and churches, and in laying the foundations of social and civil prosperity. The South has done very little in these directions. Its energies have been expended upon remote and abstract issues. It has been waging an unequal war with the North for control of the Federal Government. Instead of finding the grounds of its decay in its own neglect, it attributes it to foreign causes, and goes on, with increased zeal, in the same path by which it has reached its present condition.

The South needs men who are not afraid to look their actual condition in the face,—or to apply whatever remedies may be required. The Northern States got rid of Slavery, because they found it unprofitable and damaging to their best interests. No man at the South dares to inquire whether Slavery is advantageous or not,—whether its existence does more good than harm,—and whether it might not profitably and safely be removed. They all feel obliged to take for granted the very thing which most requires examination. It is very true they find an excuse for this, in the assaults made upon them from the North. The vehement attacks of Abolitionists in the North can State were not calculated to win them to a candid and dispassionate inquiry into the merits of Slavery;—and in their view they exposed them to dangers which would not permit freedom of action or even of speculation. We have no doubt whatever that, if there had not been a line written or a word said on the subject of Slavery in the Northern States since 1830, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri would have been Free States to-day. They have been so kept upon the defensive from that date to this, that they have had neither time nor inclination to deal with Slavery at home. But, while this fact undoubtedly increases the difficulties in the way of proper action, it ought not to prevent such action entirely. Increased obstacles should inspire increased courage.

The States considers the acquisition of Cuba as a matter of special importance to the Southern States. We do not;—nor are we surprised to find, among Southern men, that difference of sentiment and of action which the States deplores. The Cuban question is preeminently a Northern question. The only way in which the acquisition of that island could benefit the South, would be by adding one more Slave State to the Union and so increasing the political power of Slavery. But Cuba, if acquired, must be a province before it is a State,—and we shall have half a dozen more Free States before she enters the confederacy. Besides, Slavery is a very different thing in Cuba from what it is in South Carolina. The acquisition of Cuba would put an effectual stop to the African Slave-trade, introduce a rival sugar-growing country to Louisiana, and offer the example of a Slave State where slaves are legally entitled to earn their own freedom. Commerce would be the great interest which would profit most by the Americanization of Cuba;—and the commercial section is, therefore, the one which will be most zealous in its support. New-York City is far more deeply interested in the accomplishment of this purpose, than the Southern section of the Union. It would add ten or fifteen millions yearly to our trade,—offer new markets to the grain and flour of the West as well as to the manufactures of New-England,—and add immensely to the military strength and national stability of the whole country. Hundreds and thousands of Northern capitalists would invest in its plantations and make it their Winter residence,—and in all essential respects it would be commercially, socially and politically a dependency of New-York and the North. And instead of becoming, as many persons fear it would, part of a future Southern Slave Empire, the bonds of commerce and of interest would make Cuba, if annexed, one of the strongest Union States in the confederacy.

Whenever the time arrives for practical action upon this subject, we are fully prepared to see the policy of acquiring Cuba adopted and urged as a Northern measure. It is very clear, however, that Mr. BUCHANAN is losing the opportunity of attempting this work with the slightest prospect of success. He is wasting his strength in the foolish and fruitless struggle for Lecompton, and his attempt to coerce Congress, and the country, has recoiled with fearful effect. His prestige and power are thoroughly broken,—and as events prove, he cannot command a majority for any measure he may propose. It is evident that the Cuban question must wait for wiser men and more propitious times.

THE ADMINISTRATION IN CONGRESS.—The Democratic revolt on the Kansas question is extending to other relations between the President and Congress. In the House of Representatives there is a manifest disposition to withhold the supplies. It is the ancient and evident English mode of humbling the Crown. The passage of the Deficiency bill is so seriously threatened that, yesterday, Mr. LETCHER, in behalf of the Committee of Ways and Means, was obliged to appeal to the sympathy of the House. The want of confidence exhibited toward the Executive by his own party, is certainly extraordinary. That it should distress the Administration is a matter of course. This state of things is in sad contrast to the jubilant feelings with which Mr. BUCHANAN and his Cabinet took their places thirteen short months ago, and shows how rapidly an affair a victory may become through a bad use of its advantages.

A CHECK TO STOCK-GAMBLING.—The bill to legalize stock contracts on time passed the Assembly yesterday, at Albany, and if it should become a law it will have a much better effect towards the prevention of stock-gambling than any restrictive measure could possibly do. Making stakes of bulls and bears, and placing them beyond the reach of justice, was certainly not the wisest way of treating them, if the object was to crush their rampant and reckless propensities. The true policy is that of this bill—to put them upon the same footing, and compel them to deal upon the same principles, with other business men. We hope the bill will become a law.

REGISTRY BILL IN THE SENATE.—Yesterday Senator WHEELER reported the bill to prevent illegal voting throughout this State, and it was made the special order for this afternoon. The final vote is to be taken on Saturday morning.

In the Senate there are sixteen Republicans, two Americans, and one Independent Republican, (Mr. SHOW,) all of whom it is anticipated will vote in the affirmative. Nor is the passage of the bill in the Assembly doubtful, provided a vote can be had. We hope to see this much-needed measure a law before the session closes.

In the latter body, yesterday, upon Mr. WAGER moving the several bills composing the finance budget, as a special order for this evening, Mr. ADAMS moved to amend by uniting the Registry bill therewith, and by making it first in order. Mr. MCNEIL moved to make it last on the list. Lost. Ayes 43, Noes 67. Immediately after the House adjourned; but this vote clearly indicates the favor with which the bill is regarded.

PREDICTIONS.—The newspapers are circulating the report that the Earl of ROSSE predicts that the coming Summer is to be the hottest ever known. The Earl's great telescope is undoubtedly a very fine instrument, but we doubt whether it enables him to see any further into the future than than the rest of us can.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.—Mr. JAMES STARK appeared last night as Richelieu, and gave a much finer impersonation of the old Cardinal than his conventional Beverley led us to expect. Mr. STARK is a very discreet actor, and is perfectly well informed in his profession. His physical powers are not too great for the dimensions of the theatre, and those who are fond of the legitimate will be disappointed in a fair and intelligent interpretation.

City Items.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday, before Judge INGRAHAM, Sergeant WRIGHT, charged with the murder of WILLIAM GIBBONS, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the fourth degree. JOHN MANGNEY, charged with the murder of E. F. HAMMONS, in Cortlandt-street, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree. Sentence will be passed upon them on Tuesday next. THOMAS THORNTON, convicted a year since in the Court of General Sessions for burglary, and sentenced to the State Prison for five years—having obtained a new trial through the decision of the Court of Appeals—was brought yesterday before the Court. His Counsel put in a plea of insanity. The Judge ordered a Jury to be impanneled to try the question of sanity, whereupon, after the Jury was sworn, Counsel decided to retry the case in the Court of Sessions, as before. The Jury were then discharged for the term, and the Court adjourned till Tuesday next.

A Policeman's meeting for religious worship was held at the Stanton-street Baptist Church, yesterday afternoon. There were a number of Policemen and their friends present. The Rev. E. T. HASCOE, the Rev. Dr. ROGERS, the Rev. Dr. FRANCIS and other clergymen made appropriate remarks. Captain HAZE, of the Seventeenth Precinct, exhorted his brother officers to become Christians. Other Policemen made similar exhortations. The wife of a Policeman, among others, stood up and asked the prayers of all present for the members of the Police Department.

In the Court of General Sessions, yesterday THOMAS WEHNEMEY, a boy, was charged with stealing books, worth $50, from Mr. R. LEGGE, and acquitted. JAMES MANGNEY pleaded guilty to petit larceny; sentence reserved. JOHN TUNES pleaded guilty to assault and battery on HENRY JENKINS; sentence also reserved. JAMES HAZIP, who was tried for stealing a horse and cart, in the February term, when the Jury disagreed, was again tried yesterday, and again the Jury disagreed. The Court then adjourned.

EDWARD HENNON, just from Troy, bound to Europe, was yesterday forced by JOHN E. ERMINIE, who keeps the Farmer's Hotel in Cedar-street, to pay the latter $1 50 for his baggage which had been brought to the house by runners as soon as it was landed. The design was to force HENNON to "put up" at the house. HENNON, however, "put up" to the City Hall as fast as possible, and the Mayor sent an officer to the hotel who recovered the money.

Coroner CONNERY held an inquest yesterday upon the body of an infant a month old, found in the sink of No. 234 Canal-street. The post mortem examination discovered that the child's skull and breast-bone had been fractured. A verdict in accordance with these facts was rendered. No clue has been obtained of the parents of the child.

An inquest was held yesterday upon the body of THOS. MCLAUGHLIN, an Irishman, 60 years of age, whose body was found drowned at the foot of Desbrosses-street. He resided at No. 225 Elizabeth-street, and it is presumed fell into the water while intoxicated. Verdict: "Death by drowning."

THOS. H. GREGORY, an Irishman, 36 years of age, committed suicide Tuesday evening by swallowing laudanum at No. 63 James-street. He has for a long time been very intemperate in his habits. Verdict: "Suicide."

JOHN HINES, an Englishman, aged 45 years committed suicide by taking laudanum about 7 o'clock last evening, at No. 45 Crosby-street, because he was destitute and unable to find employment.

The Charge of Abstracting Papers from the Street Commissioner's Office—Mr. Turner Before the Mayor.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning CHAS. TURNER, Deputy Street Commissioner under Mr. DAVIES, appeared before the Mayor to answer the charge made against him the day previous by BARNABAS B. ADAMS, messenger in the Street Commissioner's office, of having taken some public records from the safe in the office of the Street Commissioner. RICHARD E. SHILLWELL, Esq., appeared as counsel for Mr. TURNER, D. DUDLEY FIELD, Esq., for Mr. CONOVER, and Mr. BOERNER, Corporation Counsel, on behalf of the City. There was a large crowd in attendance of the friends of Mr. TURNER and of the Corporation officers.

Recorder BARNARD stated that on Monday last Mr. TURNER had the same morning requiring him (TURNER) to attend as a witness in a case in the Marine Court, and bring with him certain papers. These papers, Mr. TURNER told him, were private and that they were in a private safe in the Street Commissioner's office. He told Mr. TURNER he would have to obey the injunction of the Court and produce the papers or be committed for contempt. The only question (the Recorder remarked) was whether the papers were public or private.

Mr. SHILLWELL contended that no offence had been committed, as the safe which Mr. TURNER opened was a private safe which he purchased in 1856, and that it contained only his private papers.

Mr. FIELD insisted that all the papers in the Street Commissioner's office were subject to an injunction, and that no person had a right to remove a single one of them without an express order from the Supreme Court. "As to what papers were in the safe that was opened by Mr. TURNER, no one knew, as Mr. TURNER had always retained the key in his own possession."

Mr. BOERNER suggested that the Mayor be allowed to examine the papers in the safe to see if any of them belonged to the public records.

Mr. SHILLWELL objected to the examination proposed, insisting that it was for the prosecution to prove that there were public papers in the safe.

Mr. TURNER was asked if there were public documents in the safe.

Mr. SHILLWELL objected to the question and no answer was given.

The affidavit of Mr. ADAMS, the messenger, was here read, and the case adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning, when ADAMS will be cross-examined.

Brooklyn News.

The total vote cast at the charter election in Brooklyn, Tuesday, was about [illegible]. The election for Aldermen resulted in the choice of seven Democrats, four Independent Democrats, three Americans, and five Republicans. Three persons were arrested for illegal voting. In the Fifth District, Mr. FRED. SCHUTZ was reelected Alderman, and not Mr. COCHRANE, as was at first reported.

The County Court was opened yesterday. Fifteen prisoners were arraigned. EDWARD THOMAS pleaded guilty to forgery in the third degree, and was sent up for two years. JAMES CRAIG pleaded guilty to larceny, and was sentenced to ten years imprisonment. The Court adjourned to Monday next.

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors, [illegible] were elected Superintendents of the Poor, [illegible] each. They now receive $1,500 each, and the other Superintendents of the Poor $1,200 each.

Twenty-five men were arrested by the Third Precinct Police, on Tuesday, for violating the law by interfering with voters at the polls. They were immediately discharged when brought before Justice BLAGDEN yesterday morning.

A female pickpocket stole $10 from the pocket of a lady on Fulton-street, yesterday. She was arrested and committed to answer.

The house of Dr. GRAY, on Livingston-street, was robbed yesterday of silver ware valued at $20.

Sea and Ship News.

LOSS OF THE NEW-YORK SHIP ANTOINETTE AT THE FALKLANDS—NOBLE CONDUCT OF THE AMERICAN CONSUL.—The following letter, which we take from the London Times of the 24th ult., is addressed to the Editor of that paper:

SIR: Through your columns I wish to make known the loss of the North American ship Antoinette, of New-York. We left Callao on the 22d of October, bound for Lon on, with a load of guano, and had a fine passage up to Cape Horn; but in two days afterwards we were wrecked on the coast of the Falkland Islands, and, strange to say, I did not know of any settlement belonging to us there, and neither did any one on board. The Captain said there was a settlement formerly at Berkeley Sand, and we proceeded there after our ship had gone to the bottom. We got there on the second day after we left the ship, or rather to a settlement at Fort William, where we found an American Consul, to whom the Captain told our loss, and that there was a boat and five men adrift, whom we had lost sight of. The poor old gentleman got a vessel the same afternoon, and at daylight the next morning proceeded to look for them, although it blew a gale of wind. His last words to us were, "Don't fear—if they are alive, I will find them;" and find them he did, on one of the small islands, with boat stove and without water; and the crew informed me that he never left the deck or slept until he did find them, when he showed them every kindness in his power. He was absent but four days. I am informed by the inhabitants of the Colony that he has always been in the habit of acting in this way for many years. He is the same man who went in pursuit of and found Captain GARDNER and the shipwrecked who were starved to death at Cape Horn, received a Freedom [illegible] in the Station of [illegible] and all at a loss to say be [illegible] of the place and [illegible] kind, generous, and [illegible]

I take this opportunity of returning my [illegible] and that of all the crew, through your columns, to Captain BURTON, the Harbor Master of [illegible] for his kindness in relieving and [illegible] on the [illegible] of need. I am, sir, your [illegible]

JACOB [illegible]

[(In behalf of all the crew of the ship Antoinette.] FALKLAND ISLANDS, Dec. 7, 1857.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HORSE-TAMING SECRET FOR TAMING AND BREAKING HORSES.—The proprietor of the above invaluable secret (a new) being practiced with such eminent success in England and France, has been induced by numerous friends to offer the same to the American public. By the use of it the most wild and vicious animal can be perfectly tamed and subdued in fifteen minutes, without the least injury to the horse. It is equally applicable for the breaking of young horses. The great notoriety and success our talented countryman has obtained for it in Europe renders the recovery of the secret. The secret with directions for warded to any address for $1, remitted to JAMES RUFUS SCUTT, Brooklyn City, N. Y.

Missionary journeying on his grand good crusade through the lands of the dark-skinned man-eater. The chocolate seller in his confined cabin. The soldier waiting for the Mormon, and the fair-haired child, good for the time, reading the Ledger—all reading the Ledger. High and low, rich and poor, wise and unwise—all, all, all reading the Ledger. Was there ever such a thing known before—a nation taken by storm by a weekly paper? Never! There have been, in different countries, remarkably successful journals, surprisingly popular papers, and mighty magazines, but anything approaching the gulp-the-nation-down career of the New-York Ledger has never been heard of, nor do we suppose even dreamed of in dreams, before. Many dull and drowsy persons, who have been trying for years to make a little literary success, open their eyes and say, "By what kind of sleight-of-hand, what legar-de-main, has Bonner done all this?" We fancy Robert Bonner's success arose from his having acted upon somewhere the same principle as an old man of ours used to try and instill into the mind of her Biddy with regard to polishing the table: "Elbow-grease, elbow-grease; use plenty of elbow-grease;" or, in other words, Bonner having found out the right thought, he has done it heavily, never sparing anything that was necessary to attain the desired end.
